- Mission: Produce and deploy entertainment-rich engagement, curriculum and associated opportunity acceleration related to international education, entrepreneurship, economic development and positive mental health via ‘trans-media’ connectivity. Specific focus is the ‘missing piece’ in all modern education and culture: bio-psycho-social health/literacy. Focus includes acceleration of global connectivity/access.
- Greatest Assets High-level/trusted personal relationships across all seven continents plus current branding as social transmedia producer plus expertise and credibility as a media educator, digital producer, business development executive, entrepreneur and philanthropist.
- Education Harvard University Graduate School of Education, 1989-1990
Masters In Education with focus on Interactive/Immersive Technologies used to optimize human capital through social and emotional learning, June 1990.
Final Project: “Family Systems” virtual reality simulator realized through simultaneous class work at MIT Media Lab and Harvard’s Graduate School Of Business.
- University of California at Berkeley 1981-1984
- Bachelors of Arts in Film and Rhetoric with honors, December 1984
 - Honors Thesis: A Prescription to an Educational Cinema - exploiting the power of entertainment production values in film, TV for technology-based learning
